

LuCinda Gail Johnson Memorial Music CD

Song Titles and Artists

"Heaven" – Poor Yorick
"New Shoes" – Paulo Nutini
"Cathedral" - Crosby, Stills, Nash, & Young
"Toulouse Street" – The Doobie Brothers
"Seven Bridges Road" – The Eagles
"Return to Sender" – Elvis Presley
"Drive" – The Cars
"Dream Weaver" – Gary Wright
"I'm Yours" – Jason Mraz
"Time In a Bottle" – Jim Croce
"Perfect Day" – Hoku
"You'll Never Fine" – Lou Rawls
"Hey You" – Pink Floyd
"I'm Just a Bill" – Schoolhouse Rock
"California Stars" – Billy Bragg & Wilco
"Don't Know Why" – Norah Jones

Reasons for inclusion

"Heaven" – Poor Yorick

Original Poor Yorick song: written many years ago by Ron Nottebart referencing his personal piece of heaven in New Hampshire, this was one of Cyndi's favorite Poor Yorick songs, and it was played at her Dad's funeral at her request.

"New Shoes" – Paulo Nutini

From her music collection: Cyndi found this artist online and I bought her the CD, and this upbeat song was her favorite.

"Cathedral" - Crosby, Stills, Nash, & Young

From her music collection, CSNY was one of her all-time favorite bands, and this selection seemed to match the circumstances in some ways.

"Toulouse Street" – The Doobie Brothers

From her music collection: I've always thought this had the ability to create a certain mood that she could appreciate.

"Seven Bridges Road" – The Eagles

From her music collection: included for the amazing harmonies and interactive audience, something she was familiar with and participated in.

“Return to Sender” – Elvis Presley

From her music collection: chosen for the symbolism of her returning to her Maker before her time should have been up.

“Drive” – The Cars

From her music collection: The lyric “who’s going to drive you home tonight” just grabbed me and it seemed right

“Dream Weaver” – Gary Wright

From her music collection: Cyndi was a “dreamer”, she weaved many dreams.

“I’m Yours” – Jason Mraz

From her music collection: Cyndi found this artist and song a few weeks ago and I included it for its upbeat tune, originality and just because she liked it so much.

“Time In a Bottle” – Jim Croce

From my music collection: I added this just because I felt like Cyndi and I had so little time together, and I wish I could collect it all and live it all again.

“Perfect Day” – Hoku

From her music collection: Now Cyndi can have Perfect Days.

“You’ll Never Find” – Lou Rawls

From my music collection: Nobody will ever find another love like Cyndi’s.

“Hey You” – Pink Floyd

From my music collection: both of us being Pink Floyd fans, this song describes the pain of being alone which she didn’t do well with.

“I’m Just a Bill” – Schoolhouse Rock

From her music collection: As a tribute to her mature sense of playfulness, I included this just for fun.

“California Stars” – Billy Bragg & Wilco

From her music collection: she just really liked this song and it always lifted her mood so I thought it might do that for others.

“Don’t Know Why” – Norah Jones

From her music collection: one of Cyndi’s favorites, she would often listen to it on her computer and I would come in and sit down and share her enjoyment of it with her.